

Posterior Predictive Check

Model-predicted points should be close to observed data points

